40 Masteral Grants Opened for Public School Teachers

Forty masteral scholarship grants were made available by the University of Asia and Pacific (UA&P) to public school teachers who wish to prepare for leadership positions in school or specialize in early childhood education.

The two-year masteral program which offers a 48% subsidy on tuition and school fees is for teachers who will major in Educational Leadership or Child Development and Education. The grant offers 20 slots for each field of study.

The Educational Leadership program is meant primarily for teachers who are being prepared for leadership and key academic and administrative positions in their schools, especially those in basic education.

“We welcome this opportunity being opened to our teachers which could boost their personal and professional advancement,” Education Secretary Mona Valisno said.

Valisno added that, “being pillars of quality education, it is imperative to give equal emphasis to improve teachers’ knowledge in terms of content in scientific disciplines, as well as to strike a balance between theory and practice.”

On the other hand, the program in Child Development and Education seeks to prepare early childhood teachers and specialists who can blend theory and practice in creating positive learning opportunities and experiences for children.

Interested applicants may contact Dr. Fe Gladys Golo and Ms. Josephine Teves at these phone numbers: 634-2828 or 637-0912 loc. 271.
