3. The national hero remains an eminent example of hard work, moral authority, capacity for great sacrifice, innovativeness, vision, and national purpose. His interest ranged from agriculture to trading, philosophy and letters, medicine and natural sciences, the arts, athletics, languages, theology, history and government. As to the Festival, it expanded opportunities for the young to develop and express their creative energies, enhanced their capabilities to deal with challenges and provide them chances of character building. Basically, it sought to invigorate the spirit of the young so that they could rise above their disbeliefs and limitations and become in the words of Dr. Jose Rizal, "The Best in the Land".

4. Immediate and wide dissemination of this Memorandum is desired.
