TWO-YEAR MASTER'S DEGREE PROGRAM OF THE SCHOOL OF EDUCATION
AND HUMAN DEVELOPMENT OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ASIA AND THE PACIFIC (UA&P)

The School of Education and Human Development of the University of Asia and the Pacific (UA&P) is now accepting applications to its two-year program leading to the degree of Master of Arts (MA) in Education (for the thesis track) and Master in Education (ME) (for the non-thesis track). The program offers two (2) majors (for both tracks): Educational Leadership and Child Development and Education.

The Educational Leadership aims to develop principal-leaders and teacher-leaders while the Child Development and Education aims to develop early childhood educators and specialists (preschools and primary school teachers and administrators, child development consultants, and researchers) who can effectively blend theory and practice in creative positive learning opportunities and experiences for young children to promote their total development.

The applicants to these programs are teachers in preschools, primary and secondary public schools in the National Capital Region (NCR) for School Year (SY) 2013-2014.

School divisions in NCR and Regions I, III and IV are encouraged to send their candidates (principals, assistant principals, department heads, master teachers and high school, primary grade and preschool teachers) to the admission examinations to be conducted by the Center for Educational Measurement (CEM). Applicants should coordinate with the University with regard to other admission requirements.

For more information, qualified applicants may contact:
