10th NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON SOCIAL STUDIES EDUCATION

The Organization of Social Studies Teachers in the Philippines Inc. (OSSTP) and EDUC 280 class of the Social Studies Education Area, University of the Philippines College of Education, will be hosting the 10th National Conference on Social Studies Education, with the theme, Inspired, Integrated, Innovated: Driving Meaningful Learning with Technology in Social Studies. This will be held at Sylvia P. Lina Theater, De La Salle Santiago Zobel School, Ayala Alabang, Muntinlupa, on April 25–26, 2025.

The Conference offers an important forum for school teachers, scholars, and administrators to gather and exchange ideas on the intersection of technology and social studies education. It aims to inspire participants, integrate dynamic technological tools, and innovate instructional practices to foster meaningful learning experiences for students. The Conference will strive to

1. inspire educators by showcasing how technology can ignite student curiosity and foster deeper engagement with social studies topics, whether it's history, geography, civics, or economics;
2. integrate various technological tools to create rich, interactive, and learner-centered learning environments. From digital mapping tools to virtual field trips, technology offers new opportunities for collaboration, exploration, and critical thinking in the social studies classroom; and
3. innovate traditional approaches by showcasing the latest trends, research, and best practices that leverage technology to enhance learner outcomes. Explore strategies for blending virtual and in-person learning, creating personalized pathways for diverse learners, and fostering higher-order thinking skills.

Teachers, education students, researchers, and those in education technology are encouraged to participate in this event.
